Red Deer vs. Olds

An Exciting Game

Three weeks ago Pine Lake and Red Deer tied in their game here. Last Wednesday an equally exciting game was played between Red Deer and Olds. Red Deer won the toss and batted first, but the exhibition given was a melancholy one. A bad start was made and was not recovered from all through. Mayne batted steadily, as usual, and E. G. Jones, though lame and short of practice, also played a good game, but could get none to stay with him, and the innings closed for the miserable total of 28. George Botham's bowling stood repeatedly and being fairly fast, was very deadly, while Allan Botham's apparently easy slow tempo tempted several to his destruction. When Olds went in to attempt their apparently easy task, the Botham brothers opened the innings. George was caught fairly soon but runs came more easily than to Red Deer, and with 23 scored and only two men out a crushing defeat looked inevitable. However, Stephenson rose nobly to the occasion. Stephenson held a beautiful catch in the slips to get rid of Allan Botham and with wicket after wicket falling, excitement rose steadily. Olds had arrived three men short and Stephenson agreed to play for them, while Goodey fielded as substitute. Rather than allow the visitors to allow Goodey bat for them also, and the Olds captain, while recognizing that this was contrary to the rules and that he had no right to the concession, agreed to accept the offer. The result was that the last two batsmen for Olds, Goodey and Stephenson, came together with the scores equal. Goodey faced Ives and hit a ball towards mid-off. The batsman ran. A desperate effort to throw down the wicket failed. Stephenson dashing nimbly into safety and turning an elegant somersault. In the course of it, and Olds had won the first innings. The last wicket fell a minute later with the total at 39. In accordance with the rule for four-hour cricket, the match was continued. The Red Deer batting order was altered in order to allow the hitters get a chance of making runs quickly, and a better display was given than in the first innings. Kent and Steward both played well, and the total reached 52 for nine, when the innings was declared closed in the hope of getting Olds out again in the remaining time. This, however, proved impossible. Stephenson bowled Allan Botham with a cleverly timed slow ball, but the Olds batsman played steadily and the end came with plenty of wickets in hand. Olds thus won the match on the first innings and despite of Red Deer's chance of winning the Central Alberta League. The Red Deer bowling in the first innings was excellent. Stephenson's analysis of five wickets for 10 runs was even better than it looks, for eight of the runs were made off two loose balls hit to the leg boundary. Ives left a good length but was rather off the wicket and not quite as effective as usual in consequence. Mention should be made of a remarkable effort by Stephenson to bring off a one-handed catch from his own bowling. It was a game of curious incidents as well as close results. A ball hit Mayne on the thigh while he was batting and set fire to a box of matches in his pocket. When Bullock was batting a ball beat him and struck the wicket but did not shatter the ball, and the batsman played a ball hard down, and thinking it was coming back on his wicket struck at it and hit only to be bowled. The batsman onto the wicket and thus put himself out. Tea was served during the afternoon and very nicely served too, by the Misses Moore, of the Golden Gate Cafe. The general opinion was that those miscreants, Goodey and Stephenson, for their honorably treacherous stand on behalf of Olds at the critical moment should be given one hour to get out of town. The appearance of both teams in the field was rather curious, since not much less than half the players were from one cause or another lame and hobbling. The detailed score was as follows:

CONDOR W.I.

A meeting of the Condor W.I. was held at the home of Mr. Hastie on July 23rd, with ten ladies present. After singing the "Maple Leaf" the "Cross" was read by the president, Mrs. Frost.

The minutes were approved as read by Mrs. Frost, after which the arrangements were discussed for the community picnic to be held at Condor on July 30th. It was moved by Mrs. Hewitt and seconded by Miss Porter, that unless sufficient funds were raised at the picnic to pay for the building of a permanent booth that the W.I. should be responsible for payment of same. On the motion of Mrs. Hewitt and Mrs. N. Eastman it was agreed to give a prize to both the girls' and men's basketball matches provided games could be arranged. It was hoped that Mr. Fenske would bring a men's team from Alhamra to play Condor.

Mr. H. Meeres' donation of $5.00 towards the football prize was gratefully received. Papers were next read by Mrs. N. Eastman on "Agriculture," her paper being divided under the respective headings which would most appeal to farm women: (1) the kitchen garden and hot-beds; (2) poultry; (3) the milk cow. Mrs. Eastman advised her listeners to procure a very instructive pamphlet, "The Cow, the Mother of Prosperity." At the close a vote of appreciation was given on the motion of Mrs. Hewitt and Mrs. Wardman. Mrs. Frost then thanked Mrs. Meeres for a short talk on community work. Miss Meeres, who has done wonderful work for the Salvation Army at Winnipeg, spoke of some of her experiences there. She said that on her journey down Arrow Lake she was struck by the debris lying on the shores and that in every community will be found debris. The Salvation Army helps to clear away this debris by endeavoring to give a second chance to every one who has fallen.

She showed her audience that by alluring children's minds with things that are beautiful they will tend to be always attracted by beautiful things and will pass by much of the ugly things of life. She had found that if a woman sets the ideals that generally a man will measure up to them. Mrs. Frost thanked Mrs. Meeres for her inspiring address and herself said that she thought the laxity in the behavior of the present day young people was caused by lack of proper discipline in childhood. Motion to adjourn was then made by Mrs. H. Meeres and Mrs. N. Eastman, after which lunch was served by Mrs. N. Eastman and Mrs. Hastie. The August meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. H. Meeres, who will read a paper on "Immigration." Hostesses for the occasion will be Mrs. Bice and Mrs. H. Meeres. DOROTHY SCOTT HASTIE, Secretary-treasurer.

FACTS ABOUT THE MAKING OF "THE TEN COMMANDMENTS"

After eight months of preparation production was started in desert localities duplicating Israel's exodus from Egypt and stay in the Sinai wilderness. More than 1,000 people were used in the Biblical scenes to represent Israel's dry-dashed passage of the Red Sea and the engulfing of the hosts of Pharaoh.

Among the engineering works accomplished were the Israelite slave-built city of Ramesses with twenty-four sphinxes and four colossi, also alongside it a modern tent city with every public utility convenience to accommodate the working throngs; the conversion of the asphaltic bed of the Mojave dry lake into a racing ground for Pharaoh's chariots; the construction of the Sinai desert wilderness and where subsequently three thousands and thousands were consumed by heat and thirst for the worship of the golden calf.

In the modern story advantage was taken of great contemporary work of cathedral building, the erection of the new and stately St. Peter's and Paul's in the city of San Francisco. Many of the scenes were filmed atop the nave or high in the spirework of the rising cathedral, with the Golden Gate and the bay as the background. Scenes of wild storm and havoc were secured on the ocean. Even Chivalry yielded new secrets for the foreign quarter episodes of the story.

The new provincial dairy, livestock and poultry co-operative marketing pools have now obtained a sufficient number of five-year contracts for purposes of organization, as a result of the drive for membership which has been going on for the past month or more. The provisional boards of all three pools announce that they have obtained more than their minimum objective of contracts and that plans are now being made for the establishment and operation of the pools.

A Unique Exhibit One of the most unique exhibits ever displayed in Canada, and one which has attracted attention from one end of the Dominion to the other, is the display of the miniature Holy Land which has been shown in Edmonton for the past few weeks. This miniature of the Holy Land was manufactured by Gabel Brothers two Sicilians who have been working for more than 11 years in their home in Edmonton on the exhibit. The exhibit includes more than a million pieces and has 900 moving figures. Biblical scenes in amazing detail are reproduced in miniature. The exhibit is to be shown throughout Canada and the United States. It is valued at many thousands of dollars.

Chicago Gas in South The cities of Lethbridge and Calgary will likely receive a reduction in the rate charge for domestic gas as a result of the turning in of new wells with a considerably increased production of gas. Gathers Data on Freight Rates A. Chard, provincial government freight supervisor, is engaged now in conferring with boards of trade and shippers for the purpose of collecting data on the question of freight rates for submission to the railway commission of Canada when it begins the investigation of freight rate equalization. Renew Arrangements A renewal of arrangements for the removal of settlers from the drought areas of south-eastern Alberta has been made by the provincial department of agriculture with the railway companies and the federal government. This has been done owing to the request received from a number of farmers in that area who have been faced with the prospect of another crop failure this year and desire to be removed to other locations in the provinces. The provincial government does not attempt to influence the settlers as to the locations to which they will move, but assists them in moving and getting located. In an effort to interest these settlers in the irrigated lands of the Lethbridge northern irrigation district, James Pike, colonization manager of the district, has canvassed the situation and now has 109 applications for locations on the tract.

Be-Keepers to Meet Alberta will have a visit this coming week from Frank C. Pellatt, editor of the American Bee-keepers' Journal of Hamilton, Ill., and one of the most noted authorities on beekeeping in America. Mr. Pellatt will visit Edmonton on Thursday next and a meeting of bee-keepers of the district will be arranged for Thursday morning in Edmonton to meet Mr. Pellatt. He will also meet the bee-keepers of southern Alberta when he visits Lethbridge.

Alberta Flooded With Tourists The tourist season in Alberta is now at its height and every day sees large numbers of tourists passing through the province or visiting the famous mountain resorts. Special trains carrying tourist parties are the order of the day, and the indications are that Alberta will close the season with much larger total of tourists than for any previous year.

FIELD DAYS AT THE EXPERIMENTAL STATION, LACOMBE On Wednesday, August 5th, a beekeepers' day will be held at the station commencing at 2 p.m. Mr. Gooderham, dominion apiculturist, will be present and will give demonstrations on methods of handling bees, and will give expert advice on beekeeping problems. For anyone interested in bee-keeping this will be a very interesting and profitable afternoon.

On Saturday, August 8th, a field day will be held at the experimental station on cereal crops. All of the commonly grown varieties and many new varieties of wheat, oats, barley, peas, and buckwheat are under test, as well as many methods of producing those crops also different kinds of farm implements. If the ladies prefer they may spend the time in the gardens and at the poultry plant. The tour of the plots will start at 1:30. Come early and bring your lunch.

INJUNCTION GRANTED IN RED DEER CASE

In the action brought by Lavender and Clarke Ford agents and garage keepers at Red Deer against Fred Lund, also of Red Deer, Mr. Justice Boyle on July 21 granted the plaintiff's application for interim injunction, restraining Lund from carrying on the business of an automobile salesman or garage keeper directly or indirectly in Red Deer or adjacent district until the case comes to trial.

Mr. Lund was formerly Ford agent and garage proprietor at Red Deer, and in September last gave an option to Harold Lavender to purchase his business at the same time agreeing, in the event of Lavender exercising the option, to refrain from carrying on directly or indirectly business as an automobile salesman or garage proprietor in Red Deer or adjacent district for three years. The plaintiff alleges that the business was duly purchased under the terms of the option, and that the defendant is thereby bound to keep out of the automobile business in Red Deer. The defendant on the other hand contends that the business was not finally sold under the option agreement but that what was virtually a new contract.

After hearing argument yesterday, Mr. Justice Boyle granted the interim injunction for which the plaintiffs asked.

Hugh C. Farthing, of F. L. Shourdice and Company, Calgary, argued the motion for the plaintiffs and J. R. McClure of Red Deer for the defendant.

MR. MITCHELL'S REPLY TO MR. BROWNLEE

In this issue is published a report of Mr. C. R. Mitchell's speech at the Liberal convention held in Red Deer last Thursday. The speech was to a large extent a detailed reply to that of the attorney-general at Eekville the previous week. Mr. Mitchell is a party leader and he never makes any pretence of being anything else than a party leader. His speech was therefore definitely a partisan one, and must be judged accordingly. Of course, exactly the same thing applies to Mr. Brownlee's speech of the previous week, though in the latter case the partisan character of the speech was possibly not so apparent.

Some of the points made by Mr. Mitchell were not over strong. They were mere debating points. Such for instance as his attempt to minimize the merit of the government's reduction of expenditure in the telephone department and land titles offices on the ground that all private enterprises have reduced expenses since 1921, and the government was merely following suit. Even if it is true that all private enterprises have so reduced expenses—and it is not at all certain that they have—the chief quarrel that the citizens of Canada have with their various governments is that they have failed to follow the example of ordinary private business enterprises in their conduct of public business. If the Farmers' government has done so, as Mr. Mitchell appears to admit, it is entitled to credit for what is unfortunately a course of conduct all too rare.

If, however, some of Mr. Mitchell's criticisms were weak, there were some of them which were distinctly effective. The main one was that a government is not to be judged by its stry reductions in the expenditure of some department, as to which juggling is certainly possible, but by the whole net result of its operations. Is the total expenditure of the government reduced? If not, why not? Is the budget balanced? If not, why not? Judged by this standard, Mr. Mitchell's criticism is both fair and effective. The Farmers' government has not reduced expenditure. It has increased it on the whole. Before the full weight of such a criticism can be estimated it is necessary to ascertain just where the increases come in, and unfortunately neither Mr. Brownlee nor Mr. Mitchell gave any real light on this subject. The capital expenditure of the last year of the Liberal government added nearly a million dollars to the necessary expenditure of their successors in interest on borrowed money. The Farmers' government has added 20 millions to the public debt, since it came into office. That means another million or more in added interest to be found by the taxpayers. The Farmers' government expenditure for 1925 was $984,000.00 more than that of the last year of the Liberal government. If two million dollars had to be paid in interest on borrowed money, it follows that the Farmers' government carried on the remaining services of the province for slightly over a million more than the Liberal government did. That looks rather well for the Farmers' government and bad for the Liberals. Mr. Mitchell suggests that some of the capital expenditure made by his last government came back to the Farmers' government and had been used by them for other purposes than repayment of debt. That is a rather sorry criticism. Is it correct? Surely it must be possible for anyone with access to and experience of the public accounts to get at the details of such transactions and give them to the public. Mr. Mitchell did not do so. Was that a mere careless omission on his part, or was it because he knew he could not furnish such details? The public are again in the unfortunate position that they cannot make their minds up on this point because they have not got the necessary facts put before them by the rival politicians.

Mr. Mitchell pointed out that the Farmers' government had increased the public debt by 20 millions in four years. That again is a serious and effective criticism, but it is marred, as before, by lack of explanation. He explained fully the charges of the capital expenditure made by the Liberal government in its last year of office with a view to showing its useful and productive character. He made no such analysis of the Farmers' government's capital expenditure. Again, it may be asked, why not? Was it because he knew that it was very much like the Liberal government's expenditure, not much better and not much worse, or was it merely because time failed him? One criticism with which the average taxpayer will entirely agree is that of the charge of over $11,000.00 for motor cars. It is a small sum but small sums add up, and it seems very difficult to defend any such charge at all. Men who are being paid $6,000.00 a year as ministers should be able to pay for their own motor cars. The expenditure of being a cabinet minister are said to be very large, then the public would be interested to see just what those mysterious expenses are. Not seeing them, the public is inclined to doubt the economical character of a government whose leaders consider such a charge for motor cars justifiable. The point may be small but it has a certain significance about it, which is worth watching.

The whole effect of Mr. Mitchell's speech was to convey an impression that the government have failed to put before the public in a clear, concise and intelligible fashion a statement of the public expenditure. Otherwise Mr. Mitchell's criticisms are very weak. He is either ignorant or so damning as to smash the government's credit altogether. The public are entitled to such explanations as will enable them to judge the government record intelligently. If they do not get it, the government are not to be surprised if the Liberal accusations should receive at least a measure of credence, rightly or wrongly.

THE STRIKE THREAT IN GREAT BRITAIN

Unless something unexpected intervenes to prevent it, Great Britain seems certain to have in the near future a coal strike at the end of the month, with the addition of further labor complications looming in the immediate background. The coal workers, another of the great labor organizations, have been threatening a strike of the old "Triple Alliance" of labor, and it is possible that the coal strike will be accompanied by a strike of transport workers, engineers and railway men. If that happens, Britain will be facing her worst labor situation of recent times, perhaps the most serious she has ever had to face.

The coal miners have refused the government's offer of an official enquiry. No doubt they were influenced by the memory of the Sankey enquiry of a few years ago, which after long and elaborate investigation and reports, did not result in any real improvement in the situation of the industry. It is possible that no improvement could have been effected; that would conditions are not to make it impossible for the former comparative prosperity of the coal industry to be revived, but it is not easy to convince working men with their limited knowledge and outlook that this is so, and it is still less easy to reconcile them to accepting merely a reduction in the none too luxurious standards of living, when they can see for themselves that the colliery owners and higher officials, by some means or other, can manage to maintain a much higher standard of living. Equally, it is impossible not to sympathize with some at any rate of the colliery owners, who see themselves losing steadily, year by year, under present conditions and have to face the prospect of inevitable bankruptcy unless they can reduce costs of production. There are still very profitable collieries in Great Britain but the number of unprofitable ones is growing and seems likely to continue growing.

If a general coal strike takes place, the position of the whole population of the country will be perilous in the extreme. Britain with its teeming city population depends almost for her very existence on a smoothly working, highly organized system of distribution and supply. If that is suddenly paralyzed, if food and fuel are no longer to be distributed to the cities, and the great public services are stopped, the danger of actual famine at once becomes acute and the public once broken loose in the great cities anything may happen. There is probably little doubt that the government has foreseen this possibility and experience has shown that the British people are adept at swift improvisation to meet the emergency in such cases. It is still a long way from being in a condition of anything like settled tranquillity, and with Great Britain helpless through civil commotions, one of the greatest forces making for peace in Europe and the world would be temporarily paralyzed. In any event the strike must almost certainly mean further loss on a huge scale to British trade, already in a sufficiently depressed condition. It is an added misfortune that at the moment of the industrial crisis, the British cabinet is apparently seriously divided on the question of naval defence. Mr. Churchill, as chancellor of the exchequer, seems to be at odds with the navy chiefs as to the new naval programme and at the moment the navy men are reported to have gained the support of the majority in the cabinet. This looks like a repetition of the situation of half a century ago when Mr. Churchill's father, Lord Randolph Churchill, resigned his position as chancellor of the exchequer under similar conditions. There will be keen interest to see if Mr. Winston Churchill will do the same, and, if so, what attitude he will adopt to a government facing a tremendous domestic crisis.

THE SCOPES EVOLUTION TRIAL

In our last issue we published the result of the Scopes trial and some of the points of the trial. The trial of the case. There are, however, other aspects which call for comment. In this instance the law as it stands was interpreted rationally and given effect to comparatively quickly. It is the law itself which is the debatable matter, and the attitude of the people of Dayton towards the trial which is hardly debatable but highly deplorable.

The theory of evolution may not be beyond the region of doubt, but modern scientists pretty generally regard it as at least an important scientific theory deserving of careful study and consideration. To pass a law peremptorily forbidding the teaching of the theory in the schools and dogmatically ruling out of discussion anything in the way of teaching which conflicts with the Bible story of the Creation is to take a step back into the bad old days when the intellect of mankind was enslaved by a narrow and bigoted ecclesiasticism. It is in much the same category with the old teaching of the church which for years stopped, as far as it possibly could, the progress of surgery by forbidding dissection of dead human bodies on the ground that such a section was a violation of the temple of God and therefore irreligious and wicked. It may be said that it will inevitably fall in its purpose, that the very passage of the law and its attempted enforcement will create an animated ecclesiasticism. It is in fact, however, would never otherwise have been brought into being. This is the old theory that persecution, especially religious persecution, usually has the directly contrary effect to that intended. That theory, however, is nothing like always true. The persecution of the Spanish Inquisition killed the very spirit of free scientific and intellectual enquiry in Spain and laid a blight on the minds of the Spanish people from which it has never recovered, and other instances of the same sort of thing might be multiplied. There is an ominous look of bigotry and intolerance about the law, a suggestion of blind ignorance which does not wish to see the light.

It is a rather interesting matter for enquiry whether the climate of the Southern States is producing an effect on the minds of the people there in the direction of mental exaltation, on the one hand and inertia on the other. The attitude of contented acquiescence in traditional beliefs and irritated resentment at anything like disturbing enquiries into such beliefs is characteristic of the indolent South rather than of the vigorous North. Whatever one may think of the law, it is not easy to view with anything but disapproval the attempts made by the leading people of Dayton to turn the trial into something like a gigantic carnival and advertisement for the city and to turn the court into a theatre for the staging of a semi-comic melodrama. It suggests an absence of good taste, a lack of feeling for what is fitting and decorous, that is more than a little regrettable. Apparently the outcome of the elaborate preparations was not up to expectations, and the Dayton advertisers suffered a disappointment in some ways comparable to that of the Shelby fighters of the Dempsey-Gibbons prize fight of a few years ago. There will be comparatively little sympathy felt for them on this account.

It is possible that the case is not yet over, as an appeal may be prosecuted in a higher court, but it is to be hoped that Mr. Scopes will not persist in this. He appears to have been entirely sincere in his statements about the trial and in view of the very moderate fine inflicted on him, he would be well advised to let the matter drop as far as the courts are concerned. There may be reason to regret that the law has been so far as the case itself should be left where the courts decision placed it. As far as the outside world is concerned, the only interest in the matter lies in the possibility of other states or other communities following the lead of Tennessee in its attempt to stifle the freedom of scientific enquiry.

Mr. Colpitts is again attending to his local affairs after a trip to Sarcee camp with the artillery.

Mr. Nutter has returned to his duties as C.P.R. agent after a two weeks' vacation. Mr. McLeod, who relieved, is again on the staff at Le Duc.

Mr. Bartholomew organizer for the community league, addressed a large meeting in the K.P. Hall here Friday evening.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. McAllister of Pelly will spend the next two weeks in town on vacation.

Mr. Harvey Smith of Bassano will be up for the regatta.

Mr. and Mrs. George Thompson of Red Deer will be away from their cottage here for a couple of weeks as they are taking a motor trip to points near Medicine Hat.

THE CITY COUNCIL

The regular meeting of the City Council was held on Monday evening with Mayor John in the chair and Aldermen Fulton, Galbraith, Broughton, Shell, McClellan and Howlett and Commissioner Stephenson present.

Correspondence. Two letters were read from Field Inspector T. H. Taylor. The first one drew attention to the weeds in the east of the city and along the C.N. tracks. The second thanked the city for their co-operation in the extermination of same.

J. J. Gault wrote re the dilapidated condition of portions of the cemetery fence and asked that they be repaired in order that the graves would receive adequate protection.

J. F. Miller asked that he be exempted from paying taxes under the law providing for tax exemption on services overseas. He had not claimed this privilege previously but in April he had met with an accident which would incapacitate him for some time, thus putting him in a position where he cannot meet his obligations. He wanted exemption from the taxes of 1916 and 1917, during which time he was overseas, and a refund of interest charges paid since or any other concession that the council would make.

This matter was referred to the commissioners to report.

A reply was received from Bowden expressing sympathy for their losses by fire and offering assistance.

A reply was received thanking the council; also a promise to assist in the case of a fire.

A. R. Chouteau asked permission to erect a sign, on the east corner of Galt Avenue and Victoria Avenue, and the other on the corner of First Street South and the road leading to the provincial training school. This was left to the approval of the commissioners.

Mr. Russell and Mr. Cummings appeared on behalf of the Red Deer Tennis Club, asking for a rebate of the water rates. The plea was based on the fact that the tennis club had supplied a long-felt want in Red Deer but unfortunately the initial expense had been so great that they could not afford to pay the rate. The council agreed that the club was a deserving one and since they had only used the water for a portion of a year, a rebate was granted.

Moved by Ald. Broughton, seconded by Ald. Shell, that the council approve of granting a restaurant license to Margaret Moore on Ross Street. Carried.

Moved by Ald. Galbraith, seconded by Ald. Fulton, that the council approve of granting a restaurant license to Margaret Moore on Ross Street. Carried.

The following accounts were passed for payment: K. Brown, $90.90; J. Crickbanks, $83.12; Dr. A. R. Cameron, $50.00; attorney-general of Alberta, $22.50; Bank of Montreal, $40.75; G. M. Thompson, $12.50; Hong Lee, $3.45; N. M. Burnett, $3.50.

There was considerable discussion concerning water rates. Ald. Howlett felt that something should be done to make it very definite as to who should pay the rates in case of a tenant leaving the house and not paying them.

Mayor De Leung desired to see a more rigid enforcement of payment by a policy of cutting off unpaid water supplies. Commissioner Stephenson deemed it unnecessary. He anticipated having almost all the rates paid up by the end of the year.

The matter of bridges was dealt with. It was brought before the council that the Board of Trade be urged to bring pressure to bear on the provincial government in the matter of repairing the approach to the bridge over the river which is in a sorry state.

The provincial government has offered to put a standard bridge across the creek on Fifth Street for $500.00. It is suggested that a layer of shale be filling in on each side. This will mean an expenditure of $250.00. It is left to the commissioners to see if such a bridge is feasible. This type of bridge will entail the driving of piles and there is a layer of shale beneath the surface which may make this impossible. The commissioner will determine whether drilling to find the depth of the shale.

The council adjourned at 10:25.

PENHOLD

The Penhold Rifle Club were hosts to Innisfail last Thursday afternoon and were successful in giving the visitors a real good heating. After the shoot all were entertained at tea by Mrs. Penhold, Mrs. Reeves, Mrs. Weaver serving. The following is a list of the score:

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bell and family of Calgary were visitors with Mrs. J. Reeves during the past week, and on Sunday all visited the lake.

Mr. S. Reeves had a narrow escape from death whilst playing in the field west of the village. He was driving a team in the bucking pole and some how the team got entangled in the harness. Ted went around to the front to stop them, slipped and was severely trampled on, necessitating several stitches having to be put in his nose and lips.

Mr. Sandy McDougall had the misfortune to fall from the house being built for Mr. Orier, and we understand he has broken his wrist. Hard luck, Sandy boy.

Our ratcatcher went to Sylvan Lake last Friday and beat the home team by 11-2.

Sylvan Lake played the return game here on Monday evening and lost by the narrow margin of one sun. The score being 6-5. We understand further match has been arranged between these teams to take place at Red Deer next Saturday evening.

The Athletic Club are putting on a dance at the hall this coming Friday, the 31st. Black's Poonoa orchestra in attendance; all come.

Heavy rains have fallen in the district during the last few days and we look like having a bumper crop.

Mrs. T. Stewart and daughter and Mrs. V. Sifton and son have returned from the lake.

Mrs. N. Stewart and family have gone to the lake.

We understand a party of ladies from the village and also Horn Hill are going to the lake this week and intend living under canvas. We trust the weather will be good and that they enjoy a good time.

ALHAMBRA

The baseball match between Rocky Mountain House and Alhambra resulted in a tie. There was quite an enthusiastic crowd witnessing the game, and a dance was held afterwards in the hall. A pleasant evening was brought to a close by the serving of refreshments in the restaurant under the capable management of Mrs. Phillips.

Farmers of the district were beginning to look rather serious regarding their crops, but last night's refreshing deluge, if we may so express it, has set them entirely at their ease again. The farmers south of Alhambra report much more rain than we have had. Those who have any hay crops are busily haying now. The grain crop is reported to be looking better in the immediate vicinity of Alhambra than in the south district.

It is with regret we learn that Miss Gault, who has been Mr. Emmerson's assistant for the past year, is leaving every success in the calling she has chosen.

Mrs. Alex Good, with her children, Leilah and Sandy, left last Saturday morning for Edmonton.

Mrs. M. Porter, who has been with Mrs. Frank Patterson for the past month, has just returned to her home in Condon.

We hear that Mr. Raine has taken a trip to the states.

Mr. Emmerson has considerably improved his store by removing a partition and changing the post office from the north to the south end of the building.

Fair Notes

With the Fair only two weeks away the directors are rapidly rounding things into shape and visitors to the exhibition can be assured of plenty of entertainment for the three days, August 13, 14 and 15. The big attraction will be the baseball tournament, for which a silver cup and $450.00 is being put up. Some of the leading teams in the district will be here and a snappy brand of ball can be looked for.

The first round of the tourney starts at 6:15 the opening day of the Fair. There will be two games the second day, at 2:30 and 6:15, and two games the concluding day, one at 2:30 and the final game of the series at 6:15.

All the teams entered are bringing a large crowd of rooters, and keen contests are expected.

The local team are going to make a strong bid to keep the cup in Red Deer this year.

The lovers of the race track have not been overlooked and a series of horse races has been arranged for each day.

The dates of the Fair are August 13-14-15.

Over $5,000 in prizes has been put up this year.

Judging of all the livestock will commence at 9 a.m. on Friday, August 14th.

Entries are coming in rapidly for the various classes in the cattle, horses, sheep, swine and poultry and other departments and many noted exhibitors will be seen on the grounds.

Some of the finest herds will be here and competition will be keen.

The livestock parade the afternoon of the third day will be the equal of any in the west.

The Fair dates are August 13-14-15.

The musical side of the fair has not been overlooked, the directors having engaged the Markerville Band for the three days.

Word comes from Yorkton that the midway attractions which will be here for the Fair are of a very high quality.

The chief attraction of the midway is the Wild West show, with a good company of riders and horses, and they put on a first-class exhibition of riding, roping, shooting, knife throwing and bucking.

The motordrome is another attraction, with "Speedy" Williams and Miss Opal in some really daring feats.

The Conklin and Garrett all-Canadian shows, which provide the midway attractions, have several other features besides the two mentioned above, including all the latest rides, to provide thrills for young and old alike.

Then there will be the usual string of spinning wheels, fortune telling booths, hot dog stands, etc., which go to help make up a Fair.

Don't forget the dates, August 13, 14 and 15.

The baby show, for babies over six months and under one year, will take place on Friday August 14, at 3 p.m. in front of the grandstand.

Entries for the Fair close Tuesday, August 11th, at 2 p.m. No entry will be accepted after that hour.

Address all communications to Ralph Patterson, Red Deer.

Remember the dates, August 13, 14 and 15.

NATURE NOTES

Most people would consider a Brown Betty (spout with its nose broken off) a perfectly useless article. Yet, having one in that disabled condition I turned it into a perfectly good wren house by putting a piece of wire around the handle and hanging it up on a nail under the eaves of the house. Only a few days elapsed when Sir Christopher and Lady Wren came around house hunting, and to judge by the former's song of triumph it was pronounced a complete success. Nest building was begun at once and they were a busy pair for the next few days. After the lady began to brood her husband had to hunt around for something to do, and when he discovered a small bird box on the other side of the house he set to work to build another nest just to pass the time. One day he sang so loudly and continuously that I went out to investigate and there, perched beside him on the roof was another lady wren, and oh, how he was coaxing her to join him in his new nest! She did, little dreaming he had another wife just around the corner brooding on a lovely batch of eggs. All in good time the babies appeared in nest number one, and the poor little neglected wife had to do all the feeding and caring for her family. However, having got his second wife settled in her home, after a few days he would sneak around to the Brown Betty and take a small offering in the shape of a tribute, but wife number one seemed to be rather suspicious of him and acted as if she feared he had designs on her babies (I was suspicious, too, and watched him closely), and I was greatly pleased, and I am sure his wife was, when he started in earnest to help her care for the family. He often paid visits to his second house and went on adding logs, feathers, etc. to the nest when he had a few spare minutes. But wife number two must have disapproved of his conduct, for she disappeared. Early last week I missed his happy little song, and I fear one of the cats caught him. Yesterday the babies were able to leave their cosy little home and the Brown Betty is tenantless.

Crops in the Edmonton district are in need of moisture though the western and southern sections were holding up well. It is in the north-eastern sections that the effects of heat and drought are felt most seriously.
